RADICALS

Remembering the 60s

The Sixties - an era of protest, free love, civil disobedience, duffel coats, flower power, giant afros and desert boots, all recorded on grainy black and white film footage - marked a turning point for change. Radicals found their voices and used them. While the initial trigger for protest was opposition to the Vietnam War, this anger quickly escalated to include Aboriginal Land Rights, Women's Liberation, Gay Liberation, Apartheid, Student Power and 'workers' control'. Radicals reflects on how the decade changed Australian society forever.

Meredith Burgmann and Nadia Wheatley will be in conversation with Melinda McNaughton from Wollondilly Library with the support of NSW Public Libraries Assn.

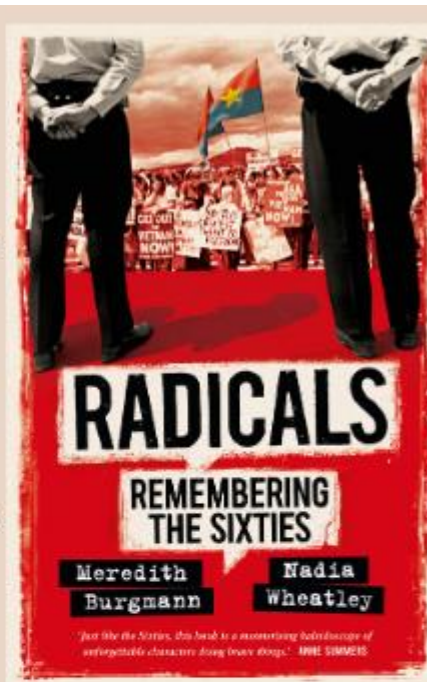

Date: Thursday 13 May

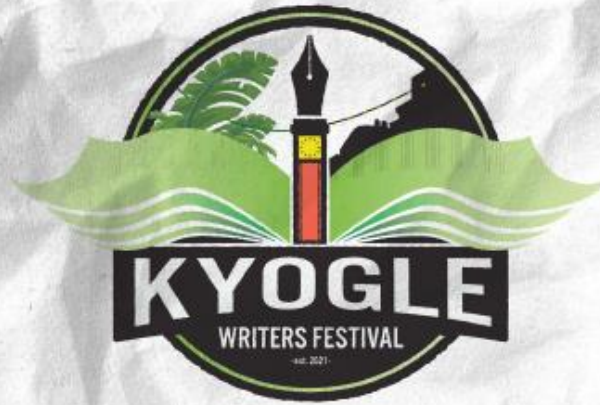

Time: 1 to 2pm

Classics

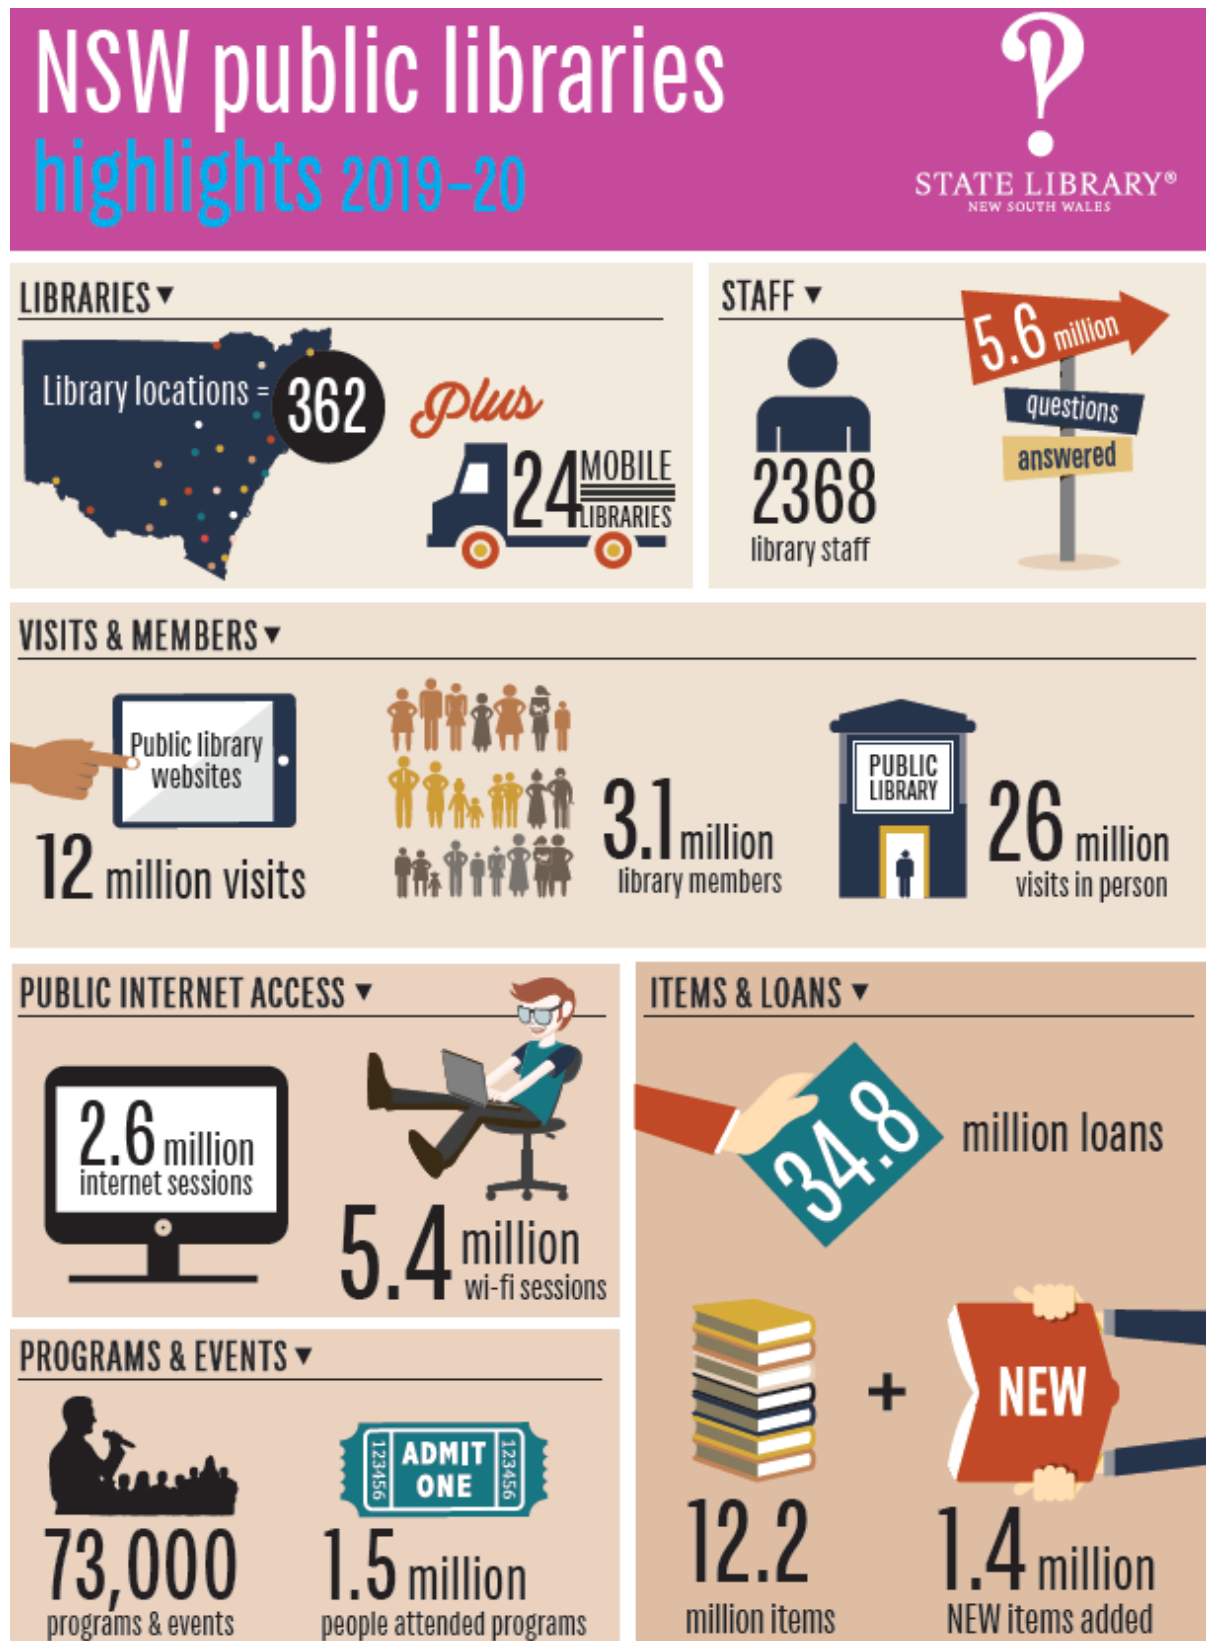

Ever wondered what is in the library 'stack' collection? The answer is 1,437 books that have been removed from the general library collection but have been kept because they are considered 'classics'.

The stack contains classics by authors such as Enid Blyton, Catherine Cookson, Charles Dickens, George Eliot, Winston Graham, Thomas Hardy, Xavier Herbert, George Johnston, D.H. Lawrence, Colleen McCullough, Patrick O'Brien, Jean Plaidy, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, John Steinbeck, Leo Tolstoy and Patrick White to name but a few.

All these titles are available to be borrowed for the usual loan period of three weeks. Check out the catalogue or the library app to see what is available.

NSW Public Libraries Highlights 2019-20

Each year the State Library collates statistics from all the public libraries in NSW. This report has just been released and here are the highlights from 2019-20.
